

Creating & Managing Classes

Note: The procedures covered in this document must be completed BEFORE a Test Coordinator can perform the Prepare step for sessions. For more information about the Prepare step, Test Coordinators should reference the Pearson Access Online User Guide.

The purpose of this document is to provide guidance for creating and managing student test sessions and classes in Pearson Access. The following topics are covered in this guide:

- Classes
  - What are Classes?
  - How are Classes Used?
  - Class Naming Conventions
  - Creating and Adding Students to Classes by Importing a Student Registration/Personal Needs Profile (SR/PNP)
  - Manually Creating Classes in Pearson Access
  - Manually Adding, Removing, or Moving Students to Classes in Pearson Access

The ability to Create Classes these tasks is tied to different user roles. Refer to the User Role Matrix located on the MCAP Portal for information ilities.

What are Classes?

Classes contain students that a user groups together for testing and reporting.

Class Naming Convention

Before adding students to classes, decide on a naming convention. For example, you may consider naming sessions using the convention: “Grade” - “Subject” - “Room or Teacher” (Gr3 - Math - Room 02).

Creating and Adding Students to Classes via Import

Importing a class file is the quickest and easiest way to add student class assignments within Pearson Access. This is done by populating each required column in the Class File. Please refer to the MCAP Guide to Importing Classes for more information.

Manually Creating Classes in Pearson Access

Classes can be manually created in Pearson Access. Follow the directions in the tables in this section to add students to classes.
